Events

1. Immigration: with his parents, Feb 1907, Tucson, Arizona, USA. The date is based on the 18 May 1907 Tucson Daily Citizen newspaper article, "Little Chink Wanted No Vacation Mite of an Oriental Who Would Have Been Willing to Continue Attending School," that states the family arrived about 3 months before the article was written.
2. Subject of newspaper article: "Little Chink Wanted No Vacation Mite of an Oriental Who Would Have Been Willing to Continue Attending School", 18 May 1907, Tucson, Arizona, USA. "Little Chink Wanted No Vacation: Mite of an Oriental Who Would Have Been Willing to Continue Attending School" May 18, 1907, Tucson Daily Citizen (Tucson, AZ), Volume: XXXXVII, Issue: 28, Page: Four (GenealogyBank).

The heart of Don Hoy is sad.

Don Hoy is a Chinese lad of six and one half years. He has been but three months from the Oriental Kingdom, but those three months have been one continual round of joy for Don Hoy for he has been attending the Convent street public school.

His father, Don Yu, is a merchant on Meyer street who has been living in this country for a number of years. About three months ago Mrs. Don Yu arrived her with her little son who was immediately sent to public school.

The youthful subject of the emperor of the Flowery Kingdom and "son of heaven" could not speak a word of English when he entered the public school. But he learned rapidly and not only does he speak the language but he reads a little.

And now he does more - this little Chink. He plays the games of his American lads and is held to be the best rounder player of his age in school and he has the American ball slang down to perfection.

Yesterday afternoon when Miss Hall, his teacher, was saying good-bye to the pupils she shook hands with all. She stepped outside of the room for a minute and when she returned Don Hoy was imitating her. He was shaking hands with all his fellow pupils and saying good-bye also.

"He is one of the most remarkable little fellows I have ever had in school," remarked Miss Hall. He is quick to imitate and learns easily. But he is a mischievous little youngster and full of tricks." she continued.

3. Graduation: from Tucson High School, 5 May 1919, Tucson, Arizona, USA.<sup>6</sup>
"Don Hoy, First Chinese Graduate From High School," Tucson Citizen (Tucson, Arizona), June 8, 1919, pg.4. (GenealogyBank)

It is of interest to note that among the high school graduates this year was Don Hoy, the first of the Chinese race to graduate from the high school in Tucson. He is the son of Don You, a merchant here, and has attended the public schools all his life. Next fall he expects to enter the Marine Engineering department of the university.

Sunday afternoon following is graduation, this you man gave a dinner for 150 of this American and Chinese friends, which was decidedly interesting as well as delicious, especially to the Americans. The menu consisted of the renowned bird's nest soup, which, in spite of the idea to the contrary, was found to be delicious, roast pork, duck, and turkey, abalona [sic] soup, chop suey, puffed fish-gelatin stew, boiled rice, and jelly, served in the order given. As there were so many guests present they were asked to eat in relays with the Americans, and a few Chinamen first. Some of the guests were: Mrs. W. Walker and her friend, Mrs. McCourtney, Mrs. M. G. Thomas, Miss Anna Charouleau, Lee Park Lin, court interpreter for immigration, Lee Aht, Yet See, Dom Kim Don, Ching Wo, Lee Yan, Fan Loy.

Though some of the guests left a comparatively early hour, most of them stayed until a very late hour, waiting at intervals, according to Chinese custom. Young Don Hoy is only 18 now. It is apparent that at the rate his education as progressed thus far, in a few years he will be through college and a full fledged marine engineer.

4. Graduation: University of California Berkeley, Spring 1923, Berkeley, Alameda, California.<sup>7</sup> Based on finding Hoy C. Don, listed as an undergraduate, in the Register - University of California, Volume 2, [By University of California, Berkeley, 1921-1922 (pg. 155)] and the article about his wedding on 28 Jul 1923 where he is referred to as a graduate of Berkeley, he had to have graduated from college in the spring of 1923.
5. Marriage: 28 Jul 1923, San Francisco, California, USA. "Popular Chinese Pair in Pretty Wedding," August 5, 1923, San Francisco Chronicle (San Francisco, CA) Page: 53 (GenealogyBank).

Miss Maude Mei Chin Lai, a Chinese girl living at the Chinese Methodist Home, San Francisco, and a graduate in music at the College of the Pacific, and Hoy Chu Don, graduate of the University of California, Berkley, were married in accordance with the American custom last Saturday evening in the red room at the Fairmont Hotel. The ceremony was conducted by Dr. Hedley, superintendent of the Chinese Methodist Episcopal activities in San Francisco. About 250 American and Chinese friends of the couple witnessed the wedding after which an elaborate banquet was served at a well-known restaurant.

Preceding the entrance of the bridal party, Mrs. Broderick sang "Oh Promise Me," and Miss Harriet Fish played the wedding march. Attended by her bridesmaid, Miss Annie Lee, gowned in orchid taffeta, by two dainty little flower girls, one dressed in green and the other in apricot silk. Miss Lai entered the red room escorted by Mrs. L. P. Williams, her guardian. The bridal group was met under an elaborate flower-decked arch by the bridegroom and his best man, George Chan. Miss Lai mad a beautiful bride in her gown of white crepe satin and flowing veil, carrying a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

"To Teach in China," May 9, 1920, San Jose Mercury News (San Jose, CA), XCVIII Issue: 130, Section: SOCIETY and CLUB SECTION Page: 43 (GenealogyBank)

It is through Miss Lai's own efforts and ambitions that she has been studying at the piano since a very small child, although the lessons were interrupted from time to time, she kept persistently on with the study. In 1908 Miss Lai and a group of other Chinese children chaperoned by Miss C (?) G(?) Vivis(?) of San Francisco spent six months in touring the United States and appeared in 48(?) cities singing and reciting their pretty verses before large and interested audiences. Among the treasured keepsakes of this interesting young woman is the signature of Theodore Roosevelt presented to her when they visited the White House. Another of her ??? listeners was Ting Pang, the Chinese ambassador to the United States.

2. Gives Concert: before the Rotary Club, 1 Jan 1920, San Jose, California. <sup>17</sup>

"Shantung Chinese Forced to Leave Japs Find Way to Oust Real Owners to Make Room," January 1, 1920, San Jose Mercury News (San Jose, CA), XCVIII, Issue: 1, Section: Second, Page: 13 (GenealogyBank).

Only section regarding Maude was transcribed:

The Chinese editor's address was applauded. The program also included several spirited selections by Miss Maude Lai, a Chinese girl pianist, and some wonderfully clever musical numbers by three little Chinese tots who were introduced by prof Joseph Hancock of the Grant grammar school.

3. Gives Concert: 9 May 1920, College of the Pacific, Stockton, California.

With the ambition in view of being able to return to her native country and there accept a position in one of the larger colleges to teach her Chinese sisters the lessons she has learned Miss Maude La Verne Lai is spending many hours a day at the piano in the Conservatory of Music at the College of the Pacific. When she completes her course there after another year of hard study she will have the distinction of being the only Chinese girl to have received a diploma in music from the local college.

It is through Miss Lai's own efforts and ambitions that she has been studying at the piano since a very small child, although the lessons were interrupted from time to time, she kept persistently on with the study. In 1908 Miss Lai and a group of other Chinese children chaperoned by Miss C (?) G(?) Among the treasured keepsakes of this interesting young woman is the signature of Theodore Roosevelt presented to her when they visited the White House. Another of her ??? listeners was Ting Pang, the Chinese ambassador to the United States.

Miss Lai appeared in her first recital at the College of the Pacific on Wednesday when for a first appearance her playing showed very clear-cut music and possibilities of a very splendid future in store for her. The two numbers were Venetienne Barcarolle by Clochard and Rondo Capriccioso by Bendel?????. He is a pupil of Miss Miriam Burton of Sunnyvale a member of the faculty of the conservatory.

4. Graduation: from College of the Pacific, 1921, Stockton, California.

"Chinese Girl Musician Music Week Feature," October 27, 1921, Evening News (San Jose, CA), Volume: 76, Issue: 102, Page: One (GenealogyBank)

Maude Lai, the first Chinese girl to graduate from an American conservatory of music, will give a recital as one of the opening features of music week in San Francisco. The talented and charming young lady, a recent graduate of the College of the Pacific and well known in San Jose, will give a piano concert on the evening of November 5 (1921).

5. Gives Concert: Bef 1923, Sunnyvale, California, USA. <sup>18</sup>

In a concert by students from College of the Pacific, Maude performed Chopin's "Nocturne in F Flat."

6. Loses Citizenship: 28 Jul 1923, San Francisco, California, USA. Because of the 1907 Expatriation Act Maude loses U.S. citizenship when she marries Hoy C. Don, a citizen of China, on 28 Jul 1923.

"American-Born Seeks Citizenship Tucson Woman Who Lost U. S. Rights in Marrying Celestial Alien Asks Naturalization"

A woman, born in the United States but who lost her citizenship through marriage today asked ??????? U. S. clerk's office.

Mrs. Maude Lai Don, 621 S. Main Street, a Celestial, was born in San Francisco of American parents. That classed her as an American citizen.

Along came Hoy C. Don, also a resident of Tucson now, who she took for her husband. They were married in July 28, 1923. That deprived her of U. S. rights. Because the law at that time forbade a woman who had married an alien ??????? citizenship from becoming naturalized, she continued to be a foreigner.

The statutes, however, have since been re-written. An American-born woman who has lost citizenship by marriage to an alien ineligible to citizenship may regain hers through naturalization.

She will appear in federal court at 10 o'clock Monday morning with 24 others who are seeking citizenship. Her witnesses will be Rudolph Zepeda, 902 N. Tenth avenue, and Lillie Thomas ?? 827 North Stone avenue. The petition was filed by William B. Loveless, deputy ?????.

7. Attempts to Regain Citizenship: After 1923, Tucson, Arizona. "Mrs. Don Seeking to Regain Citizenship"

Maude Lee Don, 621 South Main street, was born in the United States. Despite her Chinese parentage, right of birth entitled her to citizenship.

But after she grew to womanhood Cupid took a hand and she was wooed and wed by Hoy C. Don (handwritten note pointing to "Hoy C. Don" reads: "born on one of his families many trips to China from Tucson" ), a native of Canton, China. The wedding bells were the knell of her citizenship, however, since she became, automatically under the law, a national of her husband's country.

2. Obituary: Alameda Times-Star, Mar 2004. Marjories obituary as transcribed on Find-a-Grave by Travelingal, Record added: Sep 22, 2008, Find A Grave Memorial# 29992653:

MARJORIE JEAN DON WONG On February 25, 2004 at the age 78, passed away in her home in Oakland after a short but valiant fight with cancer. Marjorie was preceded in death by her husband Walter who died in 1986. A long time coronary care nurse at Peralta Hospital in Oakland, Marjorie leaves behind many friends and family members who loved her. Marjorie was the dear sister of Betty Lee (deceased) and Peggy Lui and the beloved mother of Michael, Barbara, Eileen, and Nancy. She was the proud grandmother of Ben, Allison, Tracy, Eric, Will, Jon, Kate, and Casey. Marjorie's life was filled with many friends and family, and with activities such as knitting newborn baby blankets for hospitals, volunteering, traveling, reading, exercising, helping others, and trying to be the first to see the latest movie. No matter where she went, she made new friends. She will be missed by all. A viewing will be held on March 13, 2004 from 11:00 am to 12:30 pm at Albert Brown Mortuary, 3476 Piedmont Ave., Oakland CA, followed by a celebration of her life at 1:00 pm at Albert Brown Mortuary. Internment will follow at Mountain View Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, remembrances can be made to Summit VNA and Hospice, 1900 Powell St., Ste. 300, Emeryville, CA 94608 or to Asian Health Services, 818 Webster St., Oakland, CA 94607. Please designate your gift "in memory of Marjorie Wong". In preparation for the celebration of Marjorie's life, her children invite all who knew her to write their special remembrances of her and send them via email to staleyjl@jps.net or mail them to Barbara Wong, 801 234th St. SE, Bothell, WA 98021 by Saturday, March 6. Your reflections will be compiled in a memory booklet of Marjorie's life.
